A Note from the Pastor...

In Paul's letter to the Philippians, which we will be considering all the way into August, a verse near the end of the letter tells us a great deal about Paul, his personality, and his outlook on life. In Philippians 4:8 it says,

Finally, beloved, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is pleasing, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence and if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things.

It is true, whatever comes out of a person says something about what is in them. When we give blood for a blood test, it says something about what is in us. What do the words that pass through our lips and the thoughts from our minds say about what is in us? When we are in the Body of Christ the verse above should be one that guides us through life. If these are the sorts of things that come from us, what a blessing! Obviously, there will be circumstances that make it difficult to maintain this attitude. But when given the choice, this is a wonderful verse that needs to permeate our approach to life.

With that thought in mind, Paul's letter to the Philippians is thought to be only one of several letters he wrote to them. As he begins this letter, we immediately see his feelings for them. And according to Paul, if the Gospel is being preached, that is all that matters. Paul rejoices in that. So, should we.

Nearly all of Paul's letters contain some reminder for us that he not only sees what is happening in this life, but looks forward to the next. To be with Christ (to die) is the most wonderful, but to remain in this life means he will be able to continue in the ministry to which he has been called. Maintaining an eternal perspective while we live this life becomes one of those necessary elements that enables us to live a victorious life.

-Who are you able to remember that causes you to thank God? And when you think about them do you pray for them with joy?

-Are we able to be as focused as Paul was, whose mind was set on being a witness for the Gospel, bringing honor to the name of Christ?

-Is our greatest concern that the Gospel is being proclaimed?

-Are we able to unselfishly show compassion and sympathy, looking to the interests of others?

May I challenge you? Read all four chapters of Philippians each week all the way into August. See if you notice something different every time you read it. See if it speaks to you in some way you may not have expected. God's Word is like that!

News from Nicaragua

Hello from Nicaragua to all of you at Walkersville. As the whole world has changed in the last few months, so has Nicaragua. Many families are without sufficient food, without work, without seeds to plant for the upcoming training season. So, as you imagine the two containers of food that are moving very slowly through the clearing process, we ask that you pray a prayer of faith that these containers will be released so we can bless families in Jesus name. Ministering to their whole body, Mind, Body and Spirit. Thank all of you for your continuing support of Samaritans International of Waxhaw. On a personal note words cannot explain how much all of your kindness and love blessed our family during the passing of my father.

May the Love of God be with you all and protect you day by day.

In the name of our savior,

Patrick Brown

Good News and Praises

A Shout Out to our Congregation and Pastor for reaching out to our church members and checking on each of us during this social distancing time.

A special THANK YOU to all of you who have reached out to someone with a helping hand and support during these trying times.

A thank you to the Building and Grounds Committee and men who helped with the cleanup of our church grounds after storm we had.

It's a Happy Birthday to Mark Batson, May 2nd and to Lynn Twitty May 29th. Celebrate Bristol Batson is graduating from UNCC this May with an Accounting Degree. His graduation ceremony was originally planned for May 8th but has been postponed due to COVID-19. He worked hard after changing his major and is still graduating in 4 years. He is currently looking for employment (which isn't easy right now) and plans to work in the Charlotte area. His parents are Mark and Allison Batson and his grandparents are Boyet and Lynn Twitty. His family is very proud of his accomplishments which have included being on the Dean's List and Chancellor's List at UNCC.

Coming!

By Layne Dewlen

Let me be up front with you. I believe in the imminent return of Jesus Christ for his bride, the church, called the "Rapture." I'm in good company, John, Peter, and Paul believed in His imminent return in their day. There is no prophecy that must be fulfilled before His return for the Church, nor has there ever been one since the time Jesus left this earth almost two thousand years ago. That is what makes His imminent return possible, and why Christians of every generation have looked for His coming. Once again, I'll be up front with you, I believe we are VERY close to that wonderful day! If you don't agree with my interpretation of scripture that's fine, we can still love each other. However, I would invite you to think about what I have to say.

Jesus, in the Olivet discourse, Matt. 24:37-39, and Luke 17:26-30 states that, "As it was in the days of Noah and Lot, so shall it be when the Son of Man is revealed." Read again chapter 6, 18 & 19, of Genesis.

Now I will show my age, and the age of some of you readers. Do you remember a TV show called "You Are There"? It ended with Walter Cronkite saying, "What sort of day was it? A day like all days, filled with those events that alter and illuminate our times. All things are as they were then, and you were there." As we look at the world around us, think of it as a very big TV screen. We are looking at the times of Noah and Lot 3500-4500 years ago. May I say, "You Are There," we are there.

I could go into a lot of facts about what is transpiring in the world to point toward that day for which we long, but instead I would like to give to you a website to read which will give much food for thought, written by a retired minister who I much admire. I will sign off with the salutation and farewell saying of those very early Christians, MARANATHA! (HE COMETH!)

I chose not to put my Bible in my shoulder bag as I prepared to go to church. The Pastor was preaching a series on Saul and David so I would just use the pew Bible as I did last week. Strangely though my hand reached for my slimline New Testament and I put it in my shoulder bag. After church and lunch with friends, they went their separate ways and I journeyed to Speakers' Corner in Hyde Park. It was a lovely sunny day and people were gathering to listen to those who stood on little step stools and talked about whatever was on their mind. Always there was someone telling about Jesus and His love for us, teachers from various religions and even those concerned with Global Warming or whatever. I asked one man if he knew God loved him? His reply was that he did not speak English well but he would direct me to someone who did. As he beckoned me to follow, I found myself looking up at a religious teacher who was on one of those little step stools then the fun began. He told me my Bible had been corrupted so I pulled out my little NT and showed him what God's Word said about itself Matthews 24:35 "Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away". To his statement that Jesus was only a prophet, I turned to Mark 1:11 "Then a voice came from heaven 'You are my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased.'" Next I shared Mark 9:7 when again a voice came from heaven declaring "This is My beloved Son. Hear Him." Now do not think this was any ordinary conversation because by this time a crowd was gathering and other believers were sharing with this Leader. Much to my surprise, I found myself asking them to be quiet so I could speak with this man. They were not quoting scripture but just yelling out their beliefs. At times it is a rather wild scene. At one point this leader gave me his Bible and asked me to look up a verse about women being silent in church. As I was trying to find it, some people noticed that I was having a little trouble turning the pages so they kindly said, "She can't find It" Sheer joy for them. My retort was "This is a new Bible and the pages are stuck together." Soon I located the verse, but before reading it I said, "The most important verse in the Bible is and I began quoting John 3:16." When I mentioned "His only begotten Son" there was an Arabic outcry. When they were silent, I finished quoting John 3:16 then read the requested verse about women being silent in church. Afterwards I boldly told the Leader we were not in church. This was almost too much as I could not believe my boldness in talking with this religious leader. As others in the crowd began badgering him, I would wave my hand in front of him to get his attention or tap him on the shoulder. When he was not asking others questions, but was looking at me I asked if there were not times that he felt an emptiness inside of him? This emptiness is a God shaped vacuum that can only be filled by God I told him. He began referring to me as the Christian lady. I mentioned how Jesus came to earth wrapped in human flesh. Because he believes that Jesus did not die on the cross and if we say he did, his reply was, "You mean God was dead for three days?" I reminded him that when he died, only the house he lived in would die, but the real him would live on forever. At that he said, "Because of this Christian woman, I am leaving." And he did! Wow, Father, thank you for this opportunity to interact with this religious leader. Please bring back to his mind your words that were read to him. Work in his heart and bring him to yourself. Thank you, Father, for having me take that New Testament with me. This experience was the icing on the cake for my trip!!!!

To the Walkersville Family, I know that several in the church know Joyce Smith. We received this letter last week:

Greetings, dear friends, from Fort Wayne! What huge change has come to our world, literally the whole world, since last you heard from me. Tim and his fiancée, Shira, spent about a week with Andrea and me. For the 25th we were invited to the home of new friends from Andrea's church, which made the day special in a low-key way. The new year came with little 'hullabaloo' beyond thanksgiving for life and the Lord's goodness. Since then most of our days had been pretty ordinary...Andrea's 2nd school semester began with a new schedule, my volunteer work at church continued, and my new (very part-time) role with Wycliffe as HR Care Team Prayer Facilitator was officially set in motion. A staff member in Orlando HR office sends me prayer letters received there from members who don't have a specific Wycliffe USA HR person assigned to pray for and connect with them. I pray for their requests and write an encouraging note, letting them know their home office appreciates all their work. It's a joy to hear what God is doing in so many ways through so many people. Some are friends from years back, and it's fun to re-connect! In late January Jeff invited Andrea and me to join him, Rachel and Emily for a few days at the Creation Museum and Ark Encounter, just south of Cincinnati, March 15-18. It was the time they could fit into their busy schedule and happened to coincide with Andrea's spring break. As the date neared, we began to question whether we should go, but consulted with several people and were encouraged to go ahead. When we arrived at the Airbnb Jeff had rented, we learned that both museums were closing—on Tuesday! So, we were able to visit both on Monday, the 16th—a worthwhile experience and no crowds or lines! We took great care to follow safety guidelines which have now become 2nd nature to all of us, and have been totally healthy since our return home. Were so thankful to the Lord for the timing of that connection with family, as it will be quite a while before it can happen again. Now, like you, we're into a "new normal", and we don't know how long it will last. I'm staying home, not even going to the store, though I will go give blood on Saturday. (Andrea can't do that for me. 😊) Sunday morning church and small groups through the week are online, as are all Andrea's classes. No face-to-face except through a computer screen can feel constraining, lonely. But my goodness, how blessed am I—in a comfortable home, food in freezer and cupboards, electricity and running water, and God's Word in my language with more time to read it. Thank You, Lord! And spring is coming—birds and flowers remind us that we need not fear, need not be anxious. (Matthew 6:28-34) Our God is our sure Refuge! My prayer, for you and for myself, is that in this unprecedented time we will love Him more and more, and shine His light brighter in this troubled world. A blessed Easter to you—Christ has Risen Indeed!!
